

TRANSFORMING COMMUNITIES THROUGH PHILANTHROPIC LEADERSHIP

TOCQUEVILLE SOCIETY

Tocqueville Society is comprised of our most generous community-minded philanthropists: individuals and families who annually contribute $10,000 or more to United Way. This year they are investing nearly $1.4 million to create lasting change in Greater Portland. United Way thanks these members for all they do to help build a thriving community and welcomes new members for leading the way for good.

WHO WE ARE

The Tocqueville Society, formed in 1993 in Greater Portland, is named in honor of Alexis de Tocqueville and his admiration for the spirit of American volunteerism and its effect on the common good. Tocqueville Society members show an extraordinary commitment, foresight, and dedication that enables United Way of Greater Portland to drive real change by helping those in need today and creating a stronger community tomorrow (see member roster on back).

TOCQUEVILLE SOCIETY AIMS TO

- Change lives through philanthropic leadership by driving community-level change focused on the building blocks for a better life: giving kids a strong start, empowering our neighbors to thrive, not just survive, and helping everyone live longer, better lives.
- Champion the vital role of personal philanthropic action in addressing the underlying causes of societal problems.
- Encourage philanthropic action and volunteer service with other like-minded leaders in their community.

JOIN US

With a contribution of $10,000 or a $5,000 “step-up” commitment (see illustration) over the next one or two years, you can join the growing ranks of the Tocqueville Society.
